

Welcome!

To The

Catholic CHURCH

in the

THIRD MILLENNIUM

This web site was created for anyone who wants to learn more about church, spirituality, community, ministry and several other related topics of universal interest. Our intent is that this web site will be a valuable asset for everyone in their own very personal journey of faith, worship and formation regardless of any religious affiliation.

The web site's name is the same as the book The Catholic Church in the Third Millennium which explores the Catholic Church, its history, traditions and the transformational changes the Church has experienced over several centuries. However, the emphasis and the focus of both the book and the web site are the changes the Catholic Church inaugurated at the conclusion of the Second Vatican Council in 1965 and the Church we are experiencing today.

I think you will find the web site's Library a resource of special interest. Here, you will find information on more than twenty topics containing hundreds of articles, essays, poems and short stories. The Library offers two options. You may select at random any document title of interest to you. On the other hand, you may use the Library as a personal study guide. The library documents are numbered and follow a natural, logical sequence of information - similar to chapters in a book. In this case, we suggest you follow the numbered sequence of the documents.

Another unique feature in the Library tab is the Web Resource Links. This tab allows you to connect to more than thirty web sites of related interest similar to the Library's documents

We invite you to visit this web site on a frequent basis as we continue to add new information.

“Blessings to you in your own very personal journey of faith and formation”
